

Stone Lane Pedestrian Bridge Closed for Reconstruction

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, COLORADO-Beginning Tuesday, September 12, the Stone Lane pedestrian bridge on the Walton Creek Trail will be closed for a bridge refurbishment project that includes re-decking and painting of the entire structure.

The Stone Lane pedestrian bridge is a section of the Walton Creek Trail that connects the community near Whistler Park to the greater Core trail system. The project is expected to last approximately one month, weather permitting.

There will be no access across the bridge for the duration of the project. Access to the Walton Creek Trail will be via the Chinook Lane trail access. A signed detour will be posted from the Stone Lane trail access to the Chinook Lane trail access for the duration of the project.

#

Contact:

Brad Setter, Open Space and Trails/ Rodeo/ Howelsen Hill Supervisor, 970-871-7035, bsetter@steamboatsprings.net