

Botanic Park Seeks Volunteer Editor for Newsletter

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, COLORADO-July 25, 2019-Do you have green thumb when it comes to words, a love of nature and a passion to nurture and grow stories? The Yampa River Botanic Park is looking for one to two volunteers to produce its bi-annual newsletter, which comes out in spring and fall.

“The newsletter is just like one of our gardens,” said Botanic Park President Sonia Franzel. “You go from planting the seeds, in this case for each story, to seeing it bloom to life when it comes out each time.”

This is the ideal opportunity to stop and smell the roses while sharing all that is going on in the park. This eight-page newsletter highlights gatherings and happenings, insights into some of the park’s 50 gardens, as well as the animals and plants found in this six-acre gem along the Yampa River.

Whether you have extensive experience or are interested in writing as a high school or college student, the newsletter can provide a solid foundation to grow and expand your experience.

Interested individuals should have organizational, editing and design skills, along with strong time management capabilities. This position would plan the newsletters including finding interesting topics and writers, scheduling stories and working with publisher/printer on design and formatting. The newsletter typically takes 20 hours per person from start to finish.

Contact Carol Dowden or Georgianne Nelson to express your interest or find out more about the positions. Additional information on the Yampa River Botanic Park can be found at yrbp.org and a copy of the spring newsletter is available at <http://yrbp.org/pdf/Spring2019.pdf>

-WeServeTheCity-

Contact

Sonia Franzel, Yampa River Botanic Park, 808.255.1323 or email
 Carol Dowden, Yampa River Botanic Park, 970.870.1770
 Georgianne Nelson, Yampa River Botanic Park, 970.879.3241

